ABOUT MASSPRODUCTIONS

Massproductions is a Stockholm based furniture company, run by experienced designers Chris Martin and Magnus Elebäck.

Massproductions develop high quality, tactile furniture in a modernist spirit.

Englishman Chris Martin and Swede Magnus Elebäck met in 1999 and have since worked side by side as consultants for the furniture industry. With their accumulated knowledge from these years, they took the next step and in 2009 launched their own furniture company, Massproductions.

Under the Massproductions brand they now produce and market their own collections of furniture using a new and simple method for developing products. By taking away the filters normally associated with a producer, they can make products that would otherwise get stuck somewhere in the development process.

“Our knowledge and passion is in mass production, hence the name. Our goal is to use industrial processes to create furniture which people can get excited about, something that gives them pride of ownership. You can do that with a hand-crafted piece, but for us the satisfaction comes from achieving it with an industrially produced article”, say Chris Martin.

The philosophy behind Massproductions is to harness the benefits, values and quality of volume production. We believe that responsible and rational mass production benefits the consumer, the factory worker and everyone in between.

With a dignified simplicity we aim to create products that are tactile, considered and modernist in spirit.

ABOUT TIO COLLECTION

Chris Martin designed the first collection under the Massproductions label in 2009, the Tio Collection.

Tio consists of chairs, bar stools and tables in steel wire to be used both indoors and outdoors. The parts for the chair are produced in a computer controlled wire bending machine before being manually assembled and welded in place.

Both the Tio Chair and the Tio Easy Chair are great stacking chairs. The Tio Table comes in three heights and offers a selection of table top materials and shapes!

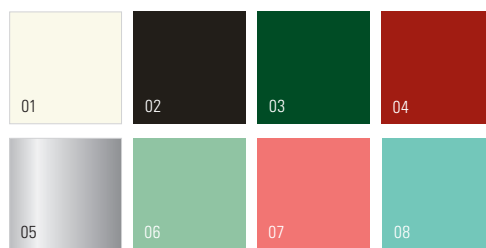

“The design for “Tio” was the end result of a few months of thinking, sketching and sculpting. My point of departure was to arrange a fan of wires into a comfortable seat and then connect them in a straightforward and logical frame, which minimized the amount of steel used. So really the appeal comes from pragmatic thinking, executed within the restraints of the materials characteristics and according to an industrial productions process. Sounds clinical, but the result is something I find very pleasing. For those who find steel wires too hard, we have developed an upholstered cushion to give extra comfort during long dining sessions” – says Chris Martin.
